Once more the Heavenly Power Makes all things new, And domes the red-plow'd hills With leving blue; The blackbirds have their wills, The throstics, too. Opens a door in Heaven; From skies of glass A Jacob's ladder falls On greening grass, And o'er the mountain walls Young angels pass. Before them fleets the shower. And bursts the buds; And shime the level lands, And flish the floods: The stars are from their hands Flung thro' the woods; The woods by living airs
How freshly fann d.
Light airs from where the deep.
All down the sand;
Is breathing in air sieep,
Heard by the land! O fellow, leaping blood, The season s lure, O heart, look down and up. Warm as the crocus-cup, Like snow-drops, pure!

Past, future, glimpse and fade Thro' some slight spell. Some gleam from yonder vale, Some far blue fell. And sympathies, how frail; In found and smell. Till at thy chuckled note, Thou twinking bird, The fairy fancies range, And, lightly stirr'd, Ring little bells of change From word to word.

For now the Heavenly Power
